Worksheet 1

NEVER AGAIN

1. Read the lyrics of the song and answer the questions.

(Hebrew man praying)

Intro:
Feel this
To all those races, colors, and creeds, every man bleeds for the countless victims and all their families of the murdered, tortured and slaved, raped, robbed and persecuted - Never Again!
To the men, women, and children
Who died and struggled to live, never to be forgotten
(Hebrew man praying)

Verse 1:
Yo my own blood
Dragged through the mud
Perished* in my heart still cherished and loved
Stripped of our pride, everything we lived for Families cried
There nowhere to run to, nowhere to hide
Tossed* to the side
Access denied
6 million died for what?
Yo a man shot dead in his back
Helpless women and children on the constant attack
For no reason
Till the next season
And we still bleeding

a) Why did people die?

Yo it's freezing
And men burn in hell, some for squeezing*
No hope for a remedy, nothing to believe
Moving targets who walk with the star in their sleeve
Forever marked with a number, tattooed to your body
Late night, eyes closed, clutched* to my shotty
Having visions, flashes of death camps and prisons no provisions
Deceived* by the devils decisions
Forced into a slave
Death before dishonor for those men who were brave
Shot and sent to their grave
Can't awake, it's too late
Everything's been taken
I'm shaken, family, history, the making

b) Who were the moving targets? Why Wu Tang Clan call them that?

Chorus:
Never again shall we march like sheep to the slaughter*
Never again shall we sit and take orders
Stripped of our culture
Robbed of our name (never again)
Raped of our freedom and thrown into the flames (never again)
Forced from our families, taken from our homes
Moved from our God then burned of our bones
Never again, never again
Shall we march like sheep to the slaughter (never again)
Leave our sons and daughters
Stripped of our culture
Robbed of our name (never again)
Raped of our freedom and thrown into the flames (never again)
Forced from our families, taken from our homes
Moved from our God and everything we own
(never again)

c) How were they robbed from their names?

Verse 2:
Some fled* through the rumors of wars
But most left were dead, few escaped to the shores
With just 1 loaf of bread
Banished, hold in for questioning
And vanished
Never to be seen again
I can't express the pain

That was felt on the train
To Auschwitz, tears poured down like rain
Naked face to face
With the master race
Hatred blood of David
My heart belongs to God and stay sacred
Rabbi’s and priests
Disabled individuals
The poor, the scholars all labeled common criminals
Mass extermination
Total annihilation
Shipped into the ghetto and prepared for liquidation
Tortured and starved
Innocent experiments
Stripped down and carved up or gassed to death
The last hour, I smelled the flowers
Flashbacks of family then sent to the showers

d) What happened to the prisoners in the concentration camps?

Powerless undressed
Women with babies clumped tight* to their chest
Crying
Who would've guessed dying
Another life lost
Count the cost
Another body gas burned and tossed in the holocaust (never again)

e) Were the Jews the ones who were victimized?

Chorus

The final solution
Is now retribution
Remedy, Wu-Tang
(A Hebrew man praying a soul prayer)
(gun shots)

f) Find in the poem a word that sums up its content.

ANEXO 2
Jan Wiener dies at age 90

Former RAF flyer turned professor fled Czechoslovakia to fight the Nazis in WWII

Wiener’s story was depicted in the film "Four Pairs of Shoes" and the documentary "Fighter."

Jan Wiener, who fought for the United Kingdom’s Royal Air Force (RAF) in World War II after fleeing the Nazi occupation of Czechoslovakia, died after a long illness Nov. 24. He was 90 years old.

Wiener, one of the last surviving veterans of the Czechoslovak 311th bombing wing of the RAF, died at Prague’s Military Hospital, where he was a patient since suffering a stroke early last year.

"For him, history was a personal issue; he had no excuses, and he would accept no excuses," said Jan Urban, a journalist, co-founder of the Civic Forum and professor alongside Wiener at New York University in Prague.

1. Why do you think Jan Wiener’s death was mentioned in one of the Czech’s most popular newspapers?

As a student in Prague, Wiener encountered the beginnings of Nazi repression at school, where benches separated Jews and Gentiles, and he wasn’t allowed to apply for university. His mother and father separated, and his father and a second wife fled to Hungary. Wiener followed shortly after in 1940. |
| B | "I think his lectures were the most popular we had at NYU," said Jiří Pehe, the director of NYU in Prague who first met Wiener in the 1990s. "He was a joy to work with because he was very knowledgeable, engaging and entertaining but at the same time tough in his opinions and principles. He would not compromise on that."
His life's story has been depicted in movies, including Čtyři páry bot (Four Pairs of Shoes) in 1998 and Fighter, an American documentary that premiered in 2000. He also wrote several history books and was awarded a medal of merit by then President Václav Havel in 2001.
Through it all, Wiener remained a man with a sense of humor and "gallantry," Urban said.
"Just watching him talking or teaching with young people was beauty itself," he added. |
| C | "His life was about 'I am part of history, I am co-responsible for everything.' That was his lifelong attitude," Urban said.
Born into a Jewish family in Hamburg, Germany, in 1920, Wiener and his family fled in 1933 to Prague as Adolf Hitler took power. The ensuing decades would prove tumultuous ones. |
| D | During the last months in the hospital, Urban said Wiener had a picture of Tomáš Garrigue Masaryk, the first president of an independent Czechoslovakia, whom he referred to as "Good Tomáš," near his bed.
"He believed in and symbolized the values that Czechoslovakia was built on, and that made life worth living," Urban said. "He would never acknowledge it, but my feeling was always that he wanted to serve as a symbol of those comrades of his who had fallen in the past, the political prisoners and most of all the Czech servicemen in the Royal Air Force in World War II and his family." |
| E | Wiener is survived by his wife, Zuzana, a son and a daughter. |
| F | Still on the move in 1941 in Yugoslavia, Hitler invaded, and Wiener’s father and stepmother committed suicide by taking poison pills.
"She died first," Wiener told The Prague Post in 2000. "When he stopped breathing, I jumped out the window, cut across a cornfield and hopped a freight train to Ljubljana." |
When the communists took over in 1948, he did five years' hard labor at Kladno steelworks as an enemy of the state for fighting the Nazis alongside a Western government. In 1964, he settled in Washington, D.C., where he became a professor of history at American University. He was also a forest guide with his third wife, Zuzana, in Massachusetts and Arizona.

Still, Czechoslovakia was never far from Wiener’s heart, and he worked with the Civic Forum, which was instrumental in bringing down the communist regime.

Wiener frequently returned to post-1989 Prague and eventually settled back for good as a lecturer at Charles University and New York University’s campus in Prague.

In August 1945, Wiener returned to Czechoslovakia. It was here he won his real victory, he told The Prague Post, when he encountered a Czech Nazi collaborator named Havránek who had been one of his past tormentors.

"I left there with a white flame of hatred burning within me which made me want to live to kill him after the war," Wiener said.

But when he finally had the opportunity, gun drawn and all, he didn’t.

"A huge weight lifted from me. I would not have to live the rest of my life with such a foul deed on my conscience. And that was when the war ended for me," Wiener said.

His mother would die in 1942 at the Terezín concentration camp.

He escaped through fascist Italy to join the RAF, where he served as a radio navigator for the duration of the war.
